RED ROSE JUNE BULLETIN

Life In Lock Down Month three!!

Well the Red Rose bulletin is not quite as easy to write as it was before this new kind of normal that we all find ourselves living in. Hopefully you and your loved ones are all safe and well and enjoying the sunshine

We would normally have been well into the car season by now and taking advantage of the lovely weather by getting out and about in our cars.

As it is the weeks are flying by and there is a long list of events we didn't get to do. However here at Red Rose we don't let a lockdown defeat us!

Thank you to everyone who has been posting pictures on the facebook group.

We have all certainly been keeping ourselves busy working on our cars and houses

Some projects have been bigger than others! David Bailey now has a very impressive new garage for his cars which has prompted much discussion on the face book page

The parcel delivery drivers have also been busy delivering all those car parts and we should have a very impressive array of TR's on the road after this with no failures to proceed in contention for this year's broken spanner award!

Some of us have been trying new skills!

Jonathan tried his hand at dog grooming and I have been brushing up on my baking and learning to touch type! All I will say is we were very glad to see the dog groomer, and I don't think I will be winning any prizes for speed typing! However our waistlines are proof that the baking is at least edible!

What new skill have you learnt during lockdown? Let us know with photos please! and we can do a feature in next month's bulletin

We have had a suggestion from a member about having a zoom meeting!

If we have enough interest this is something we could do on the date our next meeting would be due. It would be great to see all your faces and your dodgy hair! I am now sporting a side fringe and some very impressive roots!

MAY

We had lots of cars out their drives for The National Stay at Home Motor show on May 3rd and on VE day when we should have been at Gawsorth Hall there were lots of cars and some very impressive afternoon teas on display!

A STAR IN OUR MIDST!

Our very own Tracie Bailey has been working hard on a number of projects to help her community and this one made it into the local paper!

A WINSFORD mum has created a tree of hope in her garden.

Mum-of-two Tracie Bailey is inviting people who pass by to add anything colourful to thank all the key workers who are supporting the community during the pandemic."I crocheted a rainbow and people started adding little bits," said Tracie, a keen sewer, who is making scrubs and mask extenders to protect frontline staff.

"I've brought my sewing machine into the lounge. It's better than just sitting watching the TV."

Her friend Sharon O'Brien said: "Tracie has decorated a tree in her garden for people to look at whilst out on their daily walk whilst Covid-19 lockdown is on.

"People love it and have been adding there own decorations."

MAY'S PHOTO'S

Although we can't actually go out in our cars at the moment everyone seems to have been very busy working on them and you have all been posting pictures of your projects and car related purchases on the Red Rose facebook page
